COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

There will be line extensions for sewage on Vernon Street and Route 5 to serve residents of those areas. Anyone having problems with sewage disposal will be expected to connect with these lines. Each household will be contacted soon to find where the lines will have to be installed. The property owner will be responsible for the expense from his house to the main line.

A rate schedule for sewage users has been worked out. We will soon be sending bills for this. This will be a temporary schedule for 1972 only. A permanent rate will have to be voted at a town meeting.

The State Aid road in East Bethel is to continue, using this year's funds. The old road that is being abandoned will be torn up with some of its surface material being used on the new construction. The area will be blocked off to prevent it from becoming a nuisance to the neighborhood.

S. A. D. 44 DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING AT ANDOVER MONDAY

The board of directors of S. A. D. 44 held a regular meeting at the Andover Elementary School on Monday evening.

During the "citizens" portion of the meeting support of the program and administrator of the Andover school was expressed by a number of Andover citizens present.

Win Partridge and Robert Goodwin of Goodwin's Inc., Norway, were present to answer any question the board might have with regard to specifications on the District's insurance coverage. Bids on the insurance for a three year period are due to be returned on July 6. The board authorized its chairman, Edna K. Snyder, Milton Mills, buildings and grounds chairman; and Leon Akers, finance chairman; or their representatives, to take appropriate action after the bids are opened.

Mrs. Priscilla Hotte, head of the Telstar guidance department, presented the board a brief explanation of the "workings" of her department together with results hopefully achieved by the program.

The board approved a written agreement with the S. A. D. 44 Administrators Association for the 1972-73 school year; also an agreement dealing with the position of supervisor of buildings, grounds and transportation.

Granted initial first reading approval was a comprehensive policy regarding Finance and Business Services, to be effective July 1, 1972.

The board welcomed Mike Davis as the T.R.H.S. Student Council's representative on the board and expressed their appreciation for the efforts of Merry Ann Robertson during the past year in that position.

With regret, the board accepted the resignation of Dr. H. William Yeo as assistant principal at Telstar. He has served in the position since August of last year. The resignation of David Denison as guidance counselor was accepted, enabling him to assume duties as Cooperative Education Coordinator, S. A. D. 44.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to take this opportunity to lend my support to the growing number of those who feel that Alton Howe is the best man for the job of Sheriff of Oxford County.

During the past several years as a practicing attorney in Oxford County I have had the opportunity to work with many law enforcement officials. Although all are capable and dedicated it is my belief that Alton Howe stands head and shoulders above the rest. He has given many hours of himself in taking courses for his own betterment and to improve law enforcement in Oxford County. I feel that his past achievement and his future plans, if elected, qualify him for the job of Sheriff.

As an unopposed candidate for the office of County Attorney, I have had several long discussions with Alton Howe concerning the administration of justice in Oxford County.
I have found our views to be similar on numerous aspects of law enforcement, and therefore, feel that the two of us could establish an excellent working relationship between the offices of County Attorney and Sheriff. If Alton Howe is elected I feel that the cooperation between the two offices will insure the swift administration of justice in Oxford County. I urge all Democrats, voters to get out and vote for Alton Howe on June 19.

Sincerely,
David Q. Whittier

evening at their home on Curtis Hill, Hi-Vu farm, held for both young and adult. They came from State of Maine and New Hampshire. There were about 100 present to enjoy this novel dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant attended on Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis Sunday afternoon.

Richard Felt had the good fortune to shoot one of the coydogs which roams through the swamps near him. This one weighed 44 pounds which is a large one. It was back of their house when first seen. The coydog finished off Richard's sheep last year. They are rather rank killers as they bite into the hind quarters disabling them so they can't run and then start eating them while they are alive. This is a terrifying death. They do the same with the deer herd. Why should this animal be protected is beyond me. What would they do to a small child? I worry.

Mr. and Mrs. Guyson Davis tendered a birthday party to Mr. Davis' brother, Gerald, of Freeport, June 4. Those attending were Mrs. Geraldine Thueston, daughter Terri, Mrs. Velma Davis, Freeport, Mr. and Mrs. Gayden Davis and daughter, Ethel, Mrs. Patsy Tibbets and son and daughter, Oxford; Mrs. Lillian Nowlin, Newry. She also had her two children with her and the honored guest. A pot luck dinner was served with the traditional birthday cake and ice cream topping the meal.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY ON DISPLAY AT BETHEL SAVINGS BANK

The Bethel Savings Bank has announced that it will offer the public an unusual opportunity next week to try its hand at distinguishing between counterfeit and genuine money.

According to Edmond J. Vachon, treasurer of the institution, a "Know Your Money" display will be on exhibit in the bank's lobby as a public service starting Thursday, June 8.

The display will feature an assortment of bills ranging in denominations from $1 to $50, some genuine, some counterfeit. Below each bill is a number. This same number appears on one of 14 switch keys along the front of the display. To test one's skill a person simply selects what he believes to be a counterfeit or genuine bill, then pushes the corresponding switch key. This in turn will flash a signal light on the back panel which correctly identifies the bill—red if counterfeit, green if genuine.

Mr. Vachon stated that he hopes that people will avail themselves of this opportunity to become better informed as to the defects in counterfeit money and thus perhaps lessen their chance of being victimized in the future. He also announced that pamphlets containing detailed information on counterfeit currency printed by the Secret Service Division of the United States Treasury will be passed out to those requesting them.

The Countrymen.....Paper Town Tigers

By Sandra Dunham

"...Yes, it certainly does, very much so, yes at times. It's the love of music...the element that the people get out of it. It's as simple as that. It's nice to have someone come up and tell you, you're doing well and things like that."

Mickey Arsenault, spokesman of The Countrymen, was answering my question...if the two night commitment every week at the Snowshoe Club ever "got to him." He was relaxing a bit before donning his blue blazer to join his four fellow musicians for another performance.

Rumford, Maine...Paper Town...Le Lareseux...Snowshoe Club...Countrymen...five phrases which are almost synonymous. Who are the Countrymen? What charisma do they possess that has drawn a near capacity crowd into the club room at each performance for the last four and a half years? People, some of whom, come in week after week, never tiring of requests that are repeatedly played. Who are the Countrymen?

They are...Mickey Arsenault, bass guitar and vocal; Bob Moore, lead guitar; John McCaffrey, rhythm guitar (a little harmonica thrown in on the blues); Marshall Meisner, drums; and Dave Ripley, vocal. They are...a group of five men, whose talents melt them into one, yet each with his own personality trait which tends to make perfect rapport. Their ages range a span of over two decades, but the music still blends smoothly, proving that there is no age factor in good musical groups.

Each week the crowd varies little...that is to say, usually from the same walk of life. "...It's definitely a 'country crowd', Bob Moore offered, 'or we wouldn't have done so well for so long.' In the winter months, the Green Berets from Fort Devens, Mass. frequent the club, while on special duty in the area. These five men are not the original Countrymen. John McCaffrey is the only one left of the original Countrymen founded in 1956-57 and dedicated to Bluegrass music. McCaffrey's brother was in that group as was Freddie Arsenault and Bill Kendall. Bluegrass is still very much a part of John's soul and it is with a trace of sadness that he remarked "Bluegrass just didn't go...so we slowly went to country music."

Bob Moore, who had his own band in the rock and roll joined them with his guitar. Mickey Arsenault joined shortly after, by the bass guitar chores were switched to lead. "Yup, I had played guitar for twelve years now I was a lead guitar. They told me to try it like it...so here I am." The leader today is a 45 year old father of three employed at Oxford Company. He not only a great musician, but an outstanding skier, with distinction of being professional ski instructor.

All Chores Succeed

As a homemaker tries out new recipes and it is a success, the entire family is most appreciative. But the laundry comes out clean and clean time after time is a fact taken for granted - no big excitement.

Today, we don't really express special thanks from families for performing ordinary, but necessary tasks. There is a way, however, to achieve some psychic satisfaction to find self-satisfaction in making this usually task more reward.

Today's phosphate-free washing products with modern formulations, we are proud and confident of them, and at the same time, we know we're doing our part towards preventing further destruction of our environment. Already, 100% of America's phosphate-free variety is increasing daily. It's a two very good reason for this.

And rich active suds washing powder and it in these new formulas. To make it even more effective and time-saving, we added bleach, borax, brighteners, along with our standby washing soda.

Second reason makes sense. It is the desire to work on this material. We care deeply for the world we leave for our children. Small as the action of one individual seems, it all adds up.

Now there is 10% less suds ending up in our rivers. Still small saving.

So the fight today. No thank you but you'll be doing something individuals. How do five men working together week after week get along? I discussed it with McCaffrey and Moore.

"...We're like a bunch of brothers, really. We have disagreements, but never got in a fight over them. If there is a disagreement, we go out back and talk about it and get it straightened out. It's what I call a mature group."

It's what I call a beautiful example of a well organized, well balanced band of country music men. Mickey, the quiet commander with twinkling eyes, Bob, the humorist, Marshall, with drums you'd swear were on fire; John, the quiet dignity of a pro and Dave, whose personality flows through his songs into the souls of the people with whom he is communicating.

Any regrets? ...not enough time for rehearsals. Mick and Dave, who do most of the singing, try to keep with the current songs. The crowd prefers vocals to instrumentals; they are there to please the crowd. They are successful. Committed every Friday and Saturday night, The Countrymen will still travel, though not too far, for other engagements.

I left 227 Waldo Street this late Spring evening with a feeling of deep satisfaction. I had been searching for qualities that are prevalent in good country groups. . .humor. . .honesty. . .talent. . .everything that tends to make the rapport essential for good listening. I had found it in Paper Town. . .The Countrymen, truly a great representative of our Country Music.

Perhaps we can "talk country" again. . .on their fifth anniversary at Le Paresseux this October

Some bottles that once held the fragrant content of men's cologne are left to unusual candle holders.

Others, their fragrant content used up?

Turning their attention to the problem, the people at Day's Perfumes have come up with six imaginative tips on how you can help improve your environment - by saving empty perfume and cologne bottles, instead of throwing them away - and turning them into objects of lasting beauty and utility.

A HAPPY GARDENER

Look at that grin! That's because he's a gardener and has wheelbarrow, spade, rake, hoe and seeds to prove it. Now if Dad or Mom will help prepare the soil, seeds soon will be sown and, next thing you know, vegetables will be grown and, oh so eagerly, eaten.

Right Measuring Tools Essential

How does your cooking measure up? Chances are, if you're a whiz of a cook, you know the secret of measuring ingredients accurately.

Maybe grandma used a pinch of this and a handful of that, but with today's emphasis on gourmet cooking you've got to measure carefully to get the best results. What measuring tools are essential in the kitchen?

A set of liquid measuring cups. Plastic measures, like those from Rubbermaid, are great because they are break resistant and lightweight. They can be nested one inside the other and don't take up much storage space.

These plastic measures hold boiling liquids and, of course, are top-rack safe in the dishwasher, too.

Clear measuring cups should have horizontal lines with inscribed marks to indicate both ounces and cups marked on each side. Liquid measures usually come in sets of three — one cup, two cup and four cup.

A set of dry measuring cups. These are used to measure dry ingredients and should be filled to overflowing and then leveled with a straight edge. They usually come in stacking sets of four — 1 cup, 1/2 cup, 1/3 cup and 1/4 cup. Long-handled dry measuring cups are handy for dipping in to quantities of dry foods, like flour or sugar.

Measuring spoons. These are used to measure small amounts of ingredients, usually of less than an ounce. Some measuring spoons are held together with a ring so they don't get separated in the drawer. Others hang from individual hooks on a metal strip attached to the wall.

They come in sets of four — a tablespoon, a teaspoon, 1/2 teaspoon and 1/4 teaspoon.

A measure which calls for less than 1/4 cup should be measured by teaspoons. There are three teaspoons in one tablespoon and four tablespoons in 1/2 cup, for example.

A good kitchen scale not only indicates pounds, but grams and kilograms, too. A scale is particularly important for the dieter who must watch every ounce consumed. Scales are also useful if you buy food in bulk and want to divide it for storage into family-size portions. They also come in handy when canning and in quantity cooking. A scale will undoubtedly be the most expensive kitchen measuring tool you'll buy. Make sure it has a guarantee and that it can be adjusted for the weight of the container you're using to weigh an item.

Ruler. This practical tool comes in handy frequently for measuring pie crusts or unmarked baking pans or for measuring the butter when it comes in unmarked wrappers. For instance, butter and margarine are commonly packed in 1/4 pound sticks. Each stick is 4 ounces or 1/2 cup and it is usually marked in tablespoons on the wrapper. If these guidelines are missing, use the ruler to divide the stick into quarters or the amount needed. Cut before unwrapping the butter.

Most American measurement for cooking is done by volume. The basic unit is the fluid ounce or 1/32 of a quart. Weight is usually given in recipes in pounds or fractions of pounds, with 16 ounces in a pound. You may wish to copy out the following chart and tape it to the inside of a kitchen door for quick and easy reference when cooking.

Burgers Are Best On English Muffins

Summer is cookout time. And far and away the most popular food is the hamburger. This year hamburgers can be better than ever. People are discovering that delicious they are on English muffins. The toasted English muffins give the burgers a crunchy base and interesting texture.

The S.B. Thomas Company has had plenty of experience in handling English muffins having been in business since 1880 when treasured family recipe brought from England. Samuel B. Thomas thought that to develop the fresh toasted flavor, the best to score the muffins around, with a fork and gently pull it apart. Then butter and serve hot.

For added variety, burgers these flavors toppings are suggested by Thomas' people.

Tomato Burger Place tomato slice on each hamburger. Garnish with another tomato slice and a ripe olive.

Russian Dressing Burger 1/2 cup mayonnaise 1/4 cup catchup and 2 tablespoons pickle relish. Spoon hamburgers. Garnish with pickle slices.

3 BEANS FOR THE OLD TIMES

From Beulah Gore, Bradwell, Ill.: I had the good fortune to grow up in the lovely town of southern Indiana. We lived on an unproductive farm, and I was pressed by Dwight D. Eisenhower. "We were poor but we knew it." We didn't know the meaning of "supervised." We roamed the hills in the looking for the first wild and searched avidly for the rooms that mysteriously appeared overnight along the fence and the decayed stump of a peach orchard. It has been of my most cherished memories. The breathless wonder of a bird's nest while peering, seeing the sparrow and hearing the mother testing loudly on a nest. We searched among the valleys for hidden caves. The spring we roamed the woods and meadows. All kinds of green, and might be called "old times." (Send contributions to the Old Times, Box 839, Bradwell, Ill.)

Retirement, as in other years, care of your health is affected by what you do (or do not) and by what you eat (or do not). Consult your doctor about an exercise plan to meet your needs. If you are unaccustomed to physical exercise, don't overdo it. Tennis or handball just before you have time on your hands. Take up walking before you graduate to the jogging bit.

Gardening can be fun, can be good for you, if you pace yourself; if you don't overdo it. You know something of the shape you're in — but be sure. Have regular checkups and discuss your physical activity plans with your doctor.

With time on our hands, some of us are likely to pay too much attention to eating. We eat too much. We eat the wrong foods — and we don't exercise. Carrying around a lot of extra weight is simply asking for trouble.

By the same token, some people practically give up eating with retirement. They don't like to eat alone. They settle for a

Timeless Clocks

Three clocks from the collections of the Henry Ford Museum being reproduced by the Colonial Clock Company.

World famous Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Michigan has announced that a group of outstanding clocks from its vast collections is being reproduced exclusively by Colonial of Zeeland, Michigan.

Initially, six clocks were produced representing the fine craftsmanship of the early years of American decorative arts. In the near future, two more are to be added. Colonial designers spent almost two years in reproducing as authentically as possible timepieces originally made by such famous clockmakers as Aaron Willard, Joseph Doll, Brewster & Ingraham and E. N. Welch.

To ensure the authenticity of the reproduction of the spirit of the candy bar or crackers because they don't want to go to the bother of preparing a hot meal for one — or two.

In retirement, as in life, proper diet and proper exercise are essential to good health, to happiness.

as well as the appearance of the originals. Henry Ford Museum officials periodically reviewed progress, inspecting every detail of design, construction and wood finish before approving them for manufacture.

Two clocks of Aaron Willard, the notable clockmaker of Boston, are included in this group. One, reproduced from a Tall Clock made about 1795, has an unusual dial with a ship that rocks with every stroke of the pendulum. The reproduction has been reduced to 85" from the original 94 1/2", with all parts scaled accordingly, to be suitable for today's interiors. The second Willard is a one-of-a-kind Banjo Clock with painted tablets originally made

In his Boston Shop around 1802.

Colonial's Joseph Doll Tall Clock is reproduced from one made by this outstanding cabinetmaker in Lancaster, Pennsylvania about 1820. It features intricate inlaid marquetry on the head, waist and base.

The maker of the original Lancaster County Painted Clock in the group is unknown. Some of its unusual features, however, suggest Hy Bower and P. Swome, who worked in the area in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. It stands 79" high, scaled down from the original 100".

The final two clocks in this initial series are a rosewood School Clock originally made by the E. N. Welch Company about 1831 and a reproduction of a Steeple Clock made by the Brewster & Ingraham Company of Bristol, Connecticut between 1844 and 1852.

The two reproductions which are now being readied for distribution are both tall case clocks. The first is from a clock made by Thomas Jack, son of Preston, Connecticut in about 1805. The other is by John Warren of Oshkosh, England and dates from about 1700.

Only a limited number of each style is being made. They are available only in selected, quality stores throughout the country. The Henry Ford Museum Seal is burned into the back of each case with an individual registered serial number to assure authenticity.

Country Stores

The coffee mill, hand cranked, had such a tantalizing smell and was always painted as gay black and red; the glass case of candies, mostly penny a piece kind to entice the children and the tobacco case to entice the men, were always there. One of the old savings was

"Mother could be out of soda or baking powder for a week and nothing would be done about it, but if father's tobacco gave out, old Dobbin was harnessed quickly and a trip was made to town in a hurry.

In many small towns the store keeper was also the postmaster and a corner of the store was fitted out for mail delivery, and mail time was a busy time at the store.

Paper bags were not made until 1832 and not widely used for some time after that. The popular way was to place a sheet of paper on the counter and put the goods—beans, sugar, or what have you—in the center, then bring the paper up around it and crimp it to shape it into a bag and tie it.

Bottled "pop" was not heard of, but stores sold the ingredients for making birch beer, root beer and some made hop beer using canned malt (really home-brew).

Screening did not make its appearance until 1864 and boxes of dried fruit, molasses and spilled sugar and lard made happy hunting grounds for the army of flies that invaded.

Money drawers took the place of cash registers until 1880 when a type of cash register was invented in Ohio and the maker could put one together for $20.00, which sold for $100.

He was soon the head of the vast National Cash Register Company and storekeepers said goodbye to ledgers.

Then came the mail companies and the day of the old country was over.

Celebrate Spring with Shortcake

Baskets of red-ripe strawberries have become a bright spot on produce shelves the year around. But real berry connoisseurs are partial to the berry grown in their own area. So the season for strawberry shortcake is the time of the native harvest. For a tender unusual biscuit shortcake use corn starch instead of flour.

Strawberry Shortcake

1 1/2 cups sifted flour 1/4 cup margarine
1/2 cup corn starch 3/4 cup milk
2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 pint heavy cream
1/2 teaspoon salt Strawberries, sweetened

Sift together flour, corn starch, baking powder and salt in a mixing bowl. Cut in margarine until coarse crumbs form. Add milk in milk with fork just until dough forms. Gently knead on lightly floured surface 15 times. Roll to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2 1/2-inch biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in a 450° F. (very hot) oven until lightly browned, 10 to 20 minutes. Break biscuits apart while warm, but not hot. Whip the cream. Spoon cream on bottom halves. Top with berries. Cover with biscuit tops, more whipped cream and remaining strawberries. Makes 10 servings.
